

Dear FCC,

I'm concerned about how some very rich people are influencing the election system, just because they own large broadcasting stations. Below is just such an example.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for

Thank you.

Scott Vinkemulder